Dr. Isela Ocegueda is the Assistant Dean of the Graduate School, overseeing professional development and graduate student support. Dr. Ocegueda is also the site coordinator for the Hispanic Serving Institutions: Pathways to the Professoriate (HSI-PATHWAYS) at UTEP. Administered by the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Education's Center for Minority Serving Institutions and supported by a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the HSI-PATHWAYS program will prepare 90 students from Hispanic Serving Institutions (HSIs) for Ph.D. programs over a five-year period.

An El Paso native, Dr. Ocegueda earned her bachelor's degree in English from Princeton University. As a Rockefeller Brothers Fund Fellow, she then attended Harvard University's Graduate School of Education, where she earned a master of education, specializing in Language and Literacy. In 2010, Dr. Ocegueda received her Ph.D. in Literature, specializing in Latin American and Latino Studies, from the University of California-Santa Cruz.
