TRAIL WORK RESUMES

Thanks to funding from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, we are now on the verge of completing the Bosque Trail, the Park's hard-surfaced loop trail. In March, the Friends of the Rio Bosque and personnel from the City of El Paso's Parks and Recreation Department installed the sub-base for the final unsurfaced section of the trail. At our April workday (see back), we hope to install the surface. Work on this trail began in 2001; its completion is now in sight! ✂

NATURE NOTES

Merlins were among the more noteworthy residents at the Park this past winter. These small falcons nest in Canada and the northern U.S., mainly in boreal forests and on the arid northern Great Plains. They are rare in winter in the El Paso area and have been recorded sporadically at Rio Bosque in years past. This winter, Merlins were regulars at the Park, with 1-3 present all season.

Last year, bitterweed (Hymenoxys odorata) carpeted large areas of Rio Bosque in bright yellow. Will we have a similar display this year? Visit the Park between mid-April and mid-May to find out. Our wildflower walk on April 24 (see back) offers the perfect opportunity to see the bitterweed at its peak.

Painted Buntings nest in El Paso only at Rio Bosque. Interested in looking for them at the Park? Over the past 5 years, their average arrival date has been May 12, with the earliest date being May 6 last year. Odds are good they will be present for our bird walk on May 14 (see back). ✂

ECOLOGICAL MONITORING

With spring now here, the Friends of the Rio Bosque and Environmental Advocates (EA) have resumed ecological monitoring at the Park. The first session on March 26 proved very productive, with pitfall traps yielding a diverse mix of arthropods and live traps capturing 8 mice of 2 species.

For the next 7 months, monitoring will take place on the 4th Saturday each month. The April session will start at 9 a.m. In May, the start time shifts to 8 a.m. Want to help? Please contact Maria Trunk with the Friends (545-5214, mtandck@elp.rr.com) or Joel Reyes with EA (747-5501, joereyes@utep.edu). ✂

THE RIO BOSQUE WEBSITE

If you've visited the Rio Bosque website recently, you know it seems to be frozen in time – November 19, 2004, to be exact. The Park's information-technology staff has not had access to it since that date. UTEP is currently standardizing websites campus wide, and Rio Bosque's dedicated website-design team is working day and night to build a new
