

Jerry Romero serves as vice president/community development director for the greater Texas/Western border at Wells Fargo Bank Texas, N.A. He had the honor of being appointed to five state agencies by the current and two previous governors of the State of Texas.

Romero is an experienced financial services professional with a demonstrated history of working in the banking industry. He is skilled in working with nonprofit organizations, budgeting, commercial lending, general banking, volunteerism, community development, compliance and regulations, and coaching. He is a strong community and social services professional focused on housing, small business and financial health, with an emphasis on serving the most vulnerable communities.