The University of Texas at El Paso

Jacob Fraire, Director of Policy and Strategy
Diana Natalicio Institute for Hispanic Student Success
www.utep.edu/natalicio-institute

Advancing Policy Towards Equity at Scale

UTEP Center for faculty development and leadership

August 12, 2022
Advancing Policy Towards Equity at Scale

Grounded on a Theory of Change (draft)

Rigorous and relevant research on Hispanic student success and Hispanic-serving Institutions will...

inform and advance evidence-based and modernized public policy at the state and federal levels.
Modernized Public Policies are Critical to Achieve Equity Goals at Scale.

Starting with two key equity goals:

- Education outcomes (across multiple measures)
- Economic mobility (post-graduation employment, wages, retention, and career promotion)
Equity in Education Outcomes and Economic Mobility position Hispanic-Americans for Full Participation

In society, to include:

- The 21st Century economy
- Leadership to private and public sectors
- Civic engagement
- Public health and wellness
Strategies for Advancing Public Policy at Scale

The Natalicio Institute intends to:

- Design a long view policy agenda for regional, state, and national leaders
- Advance modernized federal policy on HSIs
- Leverage policy partners, networks, and coalitions
Diana Natalicio Institute
Strategic Policy Partners and Networks
Higher Education, Advocacy, and Civil Rights Organizations
Research Organizations
Leveraging Networks

Beginning with UTEP-led and affiliated networks:

- Computing Alliance of Hispanic-Serving Institutions
- Alliance of Hispanic Serving Research Universities
- Hispanic Servingness Research Council
- University of Texas System’s Accelerating Hispanic Student Success Through Servingness Initiative.
Bipartisanship is Possible