Date: November 30, 2020

From: Dr. Alyse C. Hachey, Co-Chair, Department of Teacher Education

Through: Dr. Eduardo Arellano, Chair, COE Curriculum Committee

Through: Dr. Clifton Tanabe, Dean, College of Education

To: Dr. Art Duval, Chair, Undergraduate Council

Subject: Additional Recommended Electives in the BSED-ECCE Program

The COED Teacher Education Department has an established undergraduate concentration under the Bachelor of Science in Education entitled "Early Childhood Care & Education" [BSED-ECCE]. This particular concentration has students select 33 credit hours of electives. When creating the degree concentration, we included a "recommended elective list" to facilitate students getting financial aid (for financial aid, all elective options need to be clearly identified). We just gained some new community partners who will begin funneling funded students into this program. Per their request and after detailed faculty conversation as to what would help build stronger Birth to Age 5 teachers for our region at the end of this program, we are seeking to add five (5) additional recommended elective options to the official degree plan for the BSED-ECCE concentration. The additional elective options are:

SOCI 2315- Marriage and Family		3 SCH
SOCI 3327- Social Inequity ^ (Recommended Background: SOCI 1301)		3 SCH
SOCI 3331- Family Violence ^ (Prereq: SOCI 1301)		3 SCH
CHIC 3301- La Chicana		3 SCH
CHIC 3311- Chicano Studies: Societal Issues		3 SCH

Please find along with this memo, the catalog location for the proposed change and a fully updated BSED-ECCE degree plan (including the 5 new elective options to be added for this program).

BS in Education

- Overview
- 4-Year Sample Degree Plan

The Bachelor of Science in Education offers two pathways for students seeking a degree in the field of education: one leading to Texas teacher certification and another for students who aim to prepare for a career in various areas such as early childhood education, after school programs, nonprofit work, and community outreach.

Expand All Sections

Texas Teacher Certification Pathway Non-certification Pathways

The Bachelor of Science in Education also offers two concentrations for students who are interested in a career in the field of education outside of the realm of state public school teaching. Students interested in working in organizations involving education or child-advocacy, early childhood learning or childcare, early childhood intervention, or Head Start should consider a concentration in:

Early Childhood Care and Education

The Bachelor of Science in Education- Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE) program prepares educators to serve young children birth to five years of age [0-5] in diverse, bilingual settings outside of state public schooling. Emphasis in this program is on the care and education of young dual language and English language learners. This is a non-licensure concentration for students seeking professional preparation for working with infants, toddlers and preschool-aged children, in settings such as private and public childcare, early intervention, community and child-welfare programs, and Head Start.

To earn the BS in Education-ECCE degree, students must complete The University Core Curriculum, College of Education Required Coursework and selected elective courses. All College of Education Required Coursework requires a combined minimum grade point of 3.0. A total cumulative grade point of 2.75 or higher is required for this degree program.

The Early Childhood Care and Education concentration does not lead to Texas teacher certification.

This concentration requires that students complete:

1. the University Core Curriculum,
2. required College of Education Courses, and
3. 33 SCH of open electives.

All College of Education Required Coursework require a combined minimum grade point of 3.0. A total cumulative grade point of 2.75 or higher is required for this degree program.

Some of the courses in this concentration require a field-based experience component, which may include participating in area school district or local childcare activities. School districts or childcare centers may require participants to pass background checks prior to being allowed on-site for such activities. Students seeking this concentration should meet with a Center for Student Success (CSS) program advisor to further discuss background check requirements and identify a course-of-study that will help them prepare for their desired career path.

Required Credits: 120

- Complete and pass the THEA or TSI within the first two semesters.
- Plan on taking at least 15 SCH in Fall/Spring semesters and 3 to 6 SCH during Summer terms.
- Aim for a 3.0 GPA or higher; maintain a minimum 2.75 cumulative GPA.

Education and Community Studies Concentration

The Education and Community Studies concentration does not lead to Texas teacher certification. This concentration requires that students complete:

1. the University Core Curriculum,
2. mathematics, science, and educational studies coursework,
3. 45 SCH of open electives, and
4. a senior project.

Some of the courses in this concentration require a field-based experience component, which may include participating in area school district activities. School districts require participants to pass background checks prior to being allowed on-campus for such activities. Students seeking this concentration should meet with a Center for Student Success (CSS) program advisor to further discuss background check requirements and identify a course-of-study that will help them prepare for their desired career path.

Dear Alyse,

Thanks for contacting me.

You can absolutely list DANC 3322 and DANC 3201, and I recommend to include also Dance Pedagogy DANC 4394. Please, let me know if you have an inquiries.

Thanks a lot for your work, and have a good Spring semester!

All the best,

Dear Dr. Melpignano-

I am reaching out to you because the UTEP web lists you as the current/interim director of the Dance Program. I hope this message finds you and yours safe and well.

In Teacher Education, we have a degree plan-- Bachelors of Education- Concentration in Early Childhood Care & Education [BSED-ECCE]. UNOFFICIALLY, we have been listing several Dance courses as elective options in this degree plan. Due to Financial Aid Policy, we now have to formally list all elective options for this degree in the catalog (see proposed new official degree plan attached). Per Dr. Rivera, we will need your consent that it is okay to list DANC courses as elective options before the degree plan can go before the UG Curriculum committee for formal approval. Here is the list of courses we are wanting to list as elective options in the BSED-ECCE program plan:

DANC 3322- World Dance

DANC 3201- Improvisation

May I have your permission to officially list the above courses as elective options in the BSED-ECCE degree plan?

Thanks so much for your consideration--Alyse

BSED-ECED P~.docx

Dear Dr. Yothers-

Happy New Year! I hope this message finds you and yours safe and well.

I am writing because in Teacher Education, we have a degree plan-- Bachelors of Education- Concentration in Early Childhood Care & Education [BSED-ECCE]. UNOFFICIALLY, we have been listing several English courses as elective options in this degree plan. Due to Financial Aid Policy, we now have to formally list all elective options for this degree in the catalog (see proposed new official degree plan attached). Per Dr. Rivera, we will need your consent that it is okay to list ENGL courses as elective options before the degree plan can go before the UG Curriculum committee for formal approval. Here is the list of courses we are wanting to list as elective options in the BSED-ECCE program plan:

ENGL 3305- Children's Literature ^ (Prereq: ESOL 1312 or RWS 1302)

ENGL 4345- Writing Processes ^ (Prereq: ESOL 1312 or RWS 1302)

May I have your permission to officially list the above courses as elective options in the BSED-ECCE degree plan?

Thanks so much for your consideration--Alyse

Dear Alyse,

Yes, what you've told me makes perfect sense. So in light of those circumstances, I think that Spanish 3312 would be a good choice. Thank you and take care.

Hi Dr. Evans-

The BSED-ECCE degree serves to train infant/toddler teachers for non-public school settings. In addition, it serves as one of two "fall out" degrees for our teacher certification routes. While some students choose this degree purposely, other students (because of various reasons) do not continue towards elementary teacher certification and instead switch to this concentration - usually 2/3 way through their first program. SPAN 3312 is specifically listed as an elective option for this degree because students who "fall out" of the elementary Bilingual Education route would have already taken it (SPAN 3312 is listed on the Elementary BED certification route degree plan). We seek to include the SPAN 3312 as an elective option for this degree plan so that any student who does switch from the Elementary BED certification route to this non-certification degree plan, will not lose credit in this degree for having previously taken SPAN 3312 on the other plan.

I hope this makes sense.

Thanks--Alyse

Dear Ms. Hachey,

Happy New Year to you too, and thank you for your e-mail. Rather than include the Spanish 3312 course, Pedagogical Issues in Spanish, I'm wondering why you didn't want to include SPAN/FREN 4301, Teaching Spanish and/or French? I looked at the list of courses that you provided and I didn't see APAN/FREN 4301 listed at all. Or did I miss it?

Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Yes. That is fine. I hope you will also consider allowing them to take 1403 & 1404. I think it would be better for them if they advance to teaching highschool. We also have a Physics Pedagogy class (4393) I that is something that you are interested in.

Best wishes,

Mark

Hi Alyse: You have my authorization. I recommend that you add to that menu chic 3339, cultural diversity and youth, which was designed for the BS degree in Education. It is basically a multicultural ed course. If you need to see a syllabus let me know.
