Date: 2/3/2020

From: Dr. Elisabeth Sommer, Dept. of Art

Through: David Griffin, Chair, Dept. of Art

Through: Dr. Denis O'Hearn, Dean, COLA

To: Crystal Herman, Chair, Undergraduate Curriculum Committee

Proposal Title: Museum Studies Minor Update

The Museum Studies Minor has undergone several director changes and iterations since its inception. It was initially created as a joint effort between the Dept. of Art and the Rubin Center for the Arts as a way of encouraging and fostering an appreciation and education of fine art gallery management and fine art curation. The enrollment initially was predominantly comprised of only Art Studio and Art History majors. As the director and principle faculty member was also originally the Director of the Rubin Center for the Arts, the program was taught from the Rubin and revolved around the inner workings of that gallery space most specifically.

With subsequent changes of principle faculty and staff both within the Dept. of Art and the Rubin Center for the Arts the Museum Studies program has morphed and matured into a much more diverse and more COLA-centric focused minor. The enrollment in the minor has consistently increased over the years and now averages 25-30 students with the majority of the majors now coming from History, Sociology/Anthropology, English and Art.

The focus of study has shifted from the narrow confined stand-alone fine arts gallery space and management to the broader and more fundamentally accepted academic approach to the field of Museum Studies. As Dr. Sommer is degreed in the field, and the program has naturally evolved into the more mainstream of diverse student interest it has become paramount to update, reflect and present a more holistic and complete minor offering in the area of Museum Studies.

The following changes, edits and additions have been carefully evaluated to help students maximize and tailor their Museum Studies minor to best serve their particular interests and professional goals.

Subject: April LACC proposals

Denis,

The LACC meet through email this week and voted to pass the two attached proposals from Art.

We also voted to approve the CEL ratification system that we previously discussed. Basically, the CEL task for will give the LACC a list of classes to designated as CEL every semester and the LACC will vote to approve the list before it is forwarded to the registrar. Think of the system as the same way the Faculty Senate approves each semester's list of graduates. This step keeps the curriculum in the hands of the faculty for official purposes.

Please respond to this email to both me and Julie, with your decision of the Art proposals in place of your signature.

Thank you.

Rationale for changing the course:

Requested title change and edited catalog description will more aptly and correctly reflect course material and topics.

All fields below are required

Subject Prefix and number ART 3308

Course Title Exhibition Practices I

Change	From	To
Ex. Prerequisite	Ex. POLS 2310	Ex. POLS 2312
TITLE	Exhibition Practices I	Introduction to Museum Studies
Catalog Description	Exhibition Practices I (3-0) This course examines current approaches to exhibiting art. Readings and discussions about how exhibitions shape knowledge comprise the beginning of the course. In the second part of the course this theory informs the practice of researching, planning for, mounting, marketing, and documenting exhibitions. Contemporary fine art exhibitions are emphasized, though exhibitions of historical work are also discussed.	Introduction to Museum Studies (3-0) This course explores the intellectual issues facing museums, and the practical considerations of daily museum administration. Coursework is based on readings in the field, class discussion, and written analysis of issues in modern museums. As an introductory course, it touches on several aspects of museum work, including curation, collections management, public programming, education, marketing, and management. The goal is to achieve a general understanding of a museum's inner business mechanisms, and an appreciation of the roles museums play in society.

Course Title Exhibition Practices II

Change	From	To
Ex. Prerequisite	Ex. POLS 2310	Ex. POLS 2312
TITLE	Exhibition Practices II	Exhibition Development and Design Lab
Catalog Description	Exhibition Practices II (0-6) This course is an internship-style learning experience at the Stanlee and Gerald Rubin Center for the Visual Arts or another museum that builds upon the expertise and skills developed in ART 3308/Exhibition Practices I. For nine hours each week the student will experience first hand the working environment of a museum under the supervision of a qualified professional. Tasks may range from researching specific objects or ideas, to greeting visitors, to writing educational exhibitions labels, to interviewing artists and scholars, to installing exhibitions.	Exhibit Development and Design (0-6) This course will investigate museum interpretation and will actively design and implement an exhibit using authentic objects and images. The goal is to appreciate and understand the challenges and processes involved in creating museum exhibits. Students will finish the class with experience in label writing, developing an exhibit's "big idea," setting project goals, assessing design elements, meeting deadlines, and working as a team. This course serves as the capstone for the Museum Studies Minor.

Education and Interpretation in Museums

Welcome to the fascinating and sometimes frustrating world of museum education and interpretation. Museums put a premium on physical space and objects as the focus of their messages. These physical things, however, need additional interpretation or placing in context in order to tell their story. This becomes the job of museum curators and educators. They are charged with guiding museums and historic sites in the choosing of objects, crafting the stories the objects can tell, and determining the best means of communicating these stories and engaging the public. Recently, museums have also been called to reach beyond their objects and walls and become community sites and resources. Educators can play a crucial role in helping museums meet this call.

Instructor Introduction (who the heck am I?)

I began my professional life as a professor of European History. I then saw the light and turned my attention to museums. I did graduate coursework in Public History/Museum Studies at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and then held positions at the Staten Island Historical Society (Director of Research and Interpretation) and Roanoke Island Festival Park on the Outer Banks of N.C. (Manager of Education and Interpretation), after which I taught Museum Studies at the University of Mary Washington in Virginia. Most recently I served as Education Curator for the El Paso Museum of Art. I have also done work for the Thomas Wolfe State Historic Site in N.C., the Asheville Art Museum, Historic Kenmore, and the Fredericksburg Area Museum and Cultural Center. I hold a BA in History from UNC-Greensboro and a PhD in European History from the University of Virginia. Okay, that's more than enough about me.

Course Goals

This course serves as an overview of the role of education and interpretation in the museum, with a focus on developing and implementing presentations and experiences for a variety of audiences, including school groups, families, and adult learners. As you will notice (if you're paying attention, which I trust you are), the syllabus is divided into a series of themes to help identify the particular topics the class will cover, including both theoretical issues/approaches and practical knowledge. In order to ensure an understanding of the relationship between theory and practice (not to mention beefing up your resume, always a good thing) you will have the stimulating task of developing your very own museum education program.

Class Expectations

You will be expected to engage with the readings and participate in class discussions. You should arrive in class with a written list (with pages noted) of the points/ideas you believe most significant from the readings assigned for that day. I reserve the right to collect these without prior notice.

Discussions will be supplemented by two short (4-5 page) papers and a semester long project. For this project you will put theory into practice by developing your own museum education program for a real live museum. This must be a museum with which you are physically familiar, or with which you can become familiar. Along the way you will be required to give progress reports on the days specified in the syllabus. These reports are not optional. If you find yourself in trouble, let me know ASAP so we can fix the problem.

Reading Assignments

The following book is available in the bookstore, and on the internet:

- Barry King and Barry Lord, eds. The Manual of Museum Learning (2016)

Plus...

Various articles on Blackboard from:

- Howard Gardner, Multiple Intelligences: New Horizons (2006)
- The Journal of Museum Education, vol. 42, no.4, Dec. 2017
- The Journal of Museum Education, vol. 43, no. 4, Dec. 2018
- Jessica Foy Donnelly, ed. Interpreting Historic House Museums (2002)
- Juliette Fritsch, ed. Museum Gallery Interpretation and Material Culture (2014)
- Gail Anderson, ed. Reinventing the Museum: The Evolving Conversation on the Paradigm Shift (2012)
- John Falk and Lynn Dierking, Learning from Museums (2000)

Writing Assignments

The short papers should be written in essay form and well-organized, using proper grammar and spelling. Where necessary you should use end or footnotes, but you do not have to include a bibliography. The semester's education program project will take a different form and will require a bibliography. Details on the project format are given in a separate document and will be posted on Blackboard.

All assignments are due on the dates noted in the syllabus. Late assignments will be penalized (unless there is good reason about which you notify me).

Grades

Grading will be broken down as follows:

Attendance and discussion 20%

Papers 40% (20% each)

Final Project 40%

And now for the course schedule (subject to change):

Introduction to Issues and Concepts

Aug. 27: Intro: What is Museum Education and Interpretation?

Aug. 29: A Brief History of Museum Education (Lisa Roberts, "Changing Practices of Interpretation" from Reinventing the Museum; on Blackboard)

Sept. 3: Types of Museum Education (Manual of Museum Learning, Chapters 2 & 7)
