HONORS-DESIGNATED COURSES

- The courses on the list below were nominated by the faculty teaching them or by department chairs or program directors.
- They were chosen as honors-designated courses by the LAHP faculty liaison committee because they meet a minimum number of honors course criteria.
- Honors-designated courses will count for your LAHP honors minor.
- You do not need to do any extra work in these courses – you simply need to maintain a GPA sufficient to graduate with LAHP honors.
- These courses will count wherever they fit into your degree plan—in your major, minor or block electives—AND they will count toward the LAHP minor at the same time.

INSS

INSS 3310: Intel and Counterterrorism

This course will examine the evolution and dynamics of contemporary counterterrorism and political violence, particularly as it pertains to the activities of the global Salafist movement. Special emphasis will be placed on the development of U.S. counterterrorism policy and U.S. intelligence efforts to identify and track terrorist threats around the world. Attention will also be given to collection and analytical issues associated with monitoring, penetrating, and ultimately countering terrorist cells and networks. Prerequisite: INSS 3302 with a grade of "C" or better (may be taken concurrently).

INSS 3315: Intel and Counterproliferation

This course will examine the development and contemporary use of chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, and high explosive weapons and their means of delivery. Special emphasis will be placed on U.S. intelligence efforts to identify and track proliferation threats around the world. Attention will also be given to collection and analytical issues associated with this critical national security issue. Prerequisite: INSS 3302 with a grade of "C" or better (may be taken concurrently).
