Textbooks:

Required
Northouse, Peter G., Leadership: Theory and Practice, 8th edition, Sage: 2018. ISBN: 9781506362311If you have an earlier edition of the book you will have to figure out the chapters based on the topics, and also borrow someone else’s copy for newly added chapters. It’s a hassle, so try to get the current edition.

Supplementary readings on Blackboard.

Please have access to a computer, a printer, a jump drive, the internet, an active UTEP e-mail address, and an active Blackboard account are necessary.

Course Structure:
Contemporary Concepts of Leadership is the first course of the Master of Arts in Leadership Studies (MLS) program. It is an intensive reading course! This is not a self-paced course; there are specific due dates for assignments throughout the course. Although MLS 5300 overlaps several other MLS courses, it complements those courses and will end prior to the start date of the Capstone Course (MLS 5350).

STUDENT'S LEARNING OBJECTIVES/RESPONSIBILITIES
Please read the materials covering a particular subject prior to discussions. Your active participation in class discussions is expected as a demonstration of your grasp of the material and is part of your grade. The success of this class is dependent upon the preparation of its members. Please contact me if you have any concerns about the material, the format or environment of the class. Upon completion of the course, students should understand: • The major paradigms of leadership. • The major classical theories of leadership. • The traits of a good leader. • Your natural leadership role. • The factors necessitating organizational change. IMPORTANT: Distance education demands a lot of self-discipline and motivation. There is flexibility in when you study and work on the course, but you must meet deadlines. If you require the structure of the classroom in order to stay engaged, the on-line courses are not for you. You must set up dedicated times to focus on the course materials in order to succeed in the course. Do not wait until the end of the section to do your work as discussion occurs all throughout the section. You balance many issues in your life and can fit distance learning to your individual circumstances.

TIME MANAGEMENT:
The general rule of thumb for a course is that you need approximately 3 hours of your time for each week for every credit hour enrolled. Since there are no hours in the classroom, you will need to dedicate 3 hours per week online combined with 9 hours of study and prep time per week. There will be times when you will not need 12 hours, but there will be times when you need more than 12 hours, so plan accordingly and get caught up or ahead in slow times. Being that the entire course only covers 9 weeks, you need to do as much as you can early and keep up on assignments.

Faculty Availability and Responsiveness:
Available by appointment, please contact me to arrange a meeting time. I will typically be on post at the learning resource center, 2nd floor of the library before class. Any correspondence should be through email or Blackboard email. You can expect a response from me within 24-48 hours during the regular Monday-Friday week, please allow more time during the weekend for correspondence.

Teaching Philosophy:
My classroom is one of respect, competence, and forward thinking. As an educator-scholar my classroom, whether it be face-to-face, hybrid, or online is one that recognizes everyone brings a unique lived experience and knowledge to the table. I make sure that students feel comfortable with sharing their experiences, and I encourage that students let their voice be heard. By consideration of the diverse classroom dynamics that the environment consumes, I seek to establish a supportive, collaborative, encouraging places where all students have the opportunity and desire to thrive. In my classroom, students are in a safe space where they are encouraged to share, take risks, and reflectively learn from their experiences. Through innovative instruction, a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, my classroom uses technology-enhanced learning, service learning and professional development, and a continuous dedication to rigorous research. My role in the classroom is that of an engaged facilitator who involves students in the experiential application of leadership concepts and theories.

Course Policies and Expectations:

All assignments and major projects are to be presented by the due date. An absence means forfeiting the grade for those assignments. If you cannot attend class, you should plan to submit your written work on time. I understand that at times, there may be an emergency, and I will consider extreme cases, however, reasons like not being able to access internet, personal travel, or illness should not impede you from planning with me to get work done on time. If the homework is late, it will NOT be given a grade. For written assignments, I expect that students will consult APA style manuals for the guidelines required for college-level academic writing. I expect that the course’s major speaking assignments will be well researched, rehearsed, and prepared with ample time. I will provide specific guidelines for each assignment in the course.

Multiple submissions: All work submitted in class must be original work. Please do not submit work that you have submitted in another course.

Incomplete grades: An incomplete may be given if a student provides evidence of a documented illness or family crisis that the instructor believes genuinely precluded successful completion of the course.

Make-up work: No make-up work will be accepted. If you miss the deadline for a submission you will receive a 0 for that assignment.

Grades: All work must be submitted on time and using APA style format. Excessive spelling and grammar errors and late papers will impact your grade.

Electronic Devices: Please do not use your mobile phones in the class. If you need to take or receive a call, please step outside of the class to do so. Absolutely no recording or photographing of the instructor or classmates is permitted in this classroom.

Participation: Each student is expected to read assigned materials on the dates given and to come to class prepared to discuss the assigned content. Students are expected to actively and intently participate in the class discussions, critically engage with the readings, and work collaboratively in the weekly writing activities to learn and to support the learning of peers.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism is academic dishonesty and will likely ensure your failing the class. Plagiarism means using another person’s ideas, language or other original (not common-knowledge) material without proper acknowledgement of its source. This includes taking information or ideas out of books, from articles, off the Internet, your telephone, from a friend or instructor, and so on. If the ideas or words come from a source or person other than you, you must indicate it in your writing or speech. Never use another student’s work. A plagiarized assignment will result in failure, and even further disciplinary action in accordance with UTEP policy is possible. Please become familiar with the guidelines outlined by the student handbook, and if there is any question about this topic, please contact me to schedule a meeting.

Other Policies:

Students are expected to know and observe the published deadlines for (a) dropping the course and (b) withdrawing from the course. These deadlines are published on the Academic Calendar, which is available in the my.utep.edu site, the course catalogue, and is in the Dean’s Office, also online http://catalog.utep.edu/grad/welcome-to-utep/academic-calendar/.

No competing audio/visual technology in class. Laptops and smart phones may be utilized during our course, but these moments are integrated into the curriculum. Usage of these devices, apart from the course design, will be considered competing.

Official UTEP email accounts are encouraged of every student. All business not dealt with in class will be conducted through UTEP email accounts and students are responsible for checking their accounts for course updates and notifications.

For direction about online course etiquette please visit UTEP’s netiquette guide for online courses: https://www.utep.edu/extendeduniversity/cid/_Files/docs/netiquette-guide-for-online-courses.pdf

Student Conduct:

Students should familiarize themselves with the UTEP Handbook of Operating Procedures https://www.utep.edu/vpba/hoop/. Violation of procedures will result in failure of the class.

While enrolled at the University, a student neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of social responsibility. Any student who engages in conduct that is prohibited by the Board of Regents’ Rules and Regulations or University rules or by federal, state, or local law is subject to discipline whether such conduct takes place on or off campus or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. All students are expected and required to obey the law, to show respect for properly constituted authority, and to observe correct standards of conduct.

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) administers student discipline according to established procedures of due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 50101, and in the UTEP’s Handbook of Operating Procedures.

The Regents’ Rules and Regulations
“All students at the University of El Paso are expected to have read and understood The Regents’ Rules and Regulations.”

“The official copy of the Regents’ Rules and Regulations is maintained by the Office of the Boards of Regents. The Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System for the Government of The University of Texas System were reissued on December 10, 2004.”

Handbook of Operating Procedures

Students at the University of Texas at El Paso are encouraged to engage their campus in a positive way. By staying educated on policy and procedure, students can ensure a healthy and productive education at the University of Texas at El Paso.

The UTEP’s Handbook of Operating Procedures contains official policies and procedures for the governance of UTEP. The rules and regulations constituting the HOP must not conflict with any rule or regulation in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations.

If you have any questions, please contact the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution (OSCCR). Avoiding Plagiarism (PDF)

Academic Misconduct:

The University of Texas El Paso prides itself on its standards of academic excellence and students are expected to uphold the highest standards of academic integrity. Any student who commits an act of scholastic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, submitting work for credit that is attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, and any act that gives or attempts to give unfair advantage.

Students in need of accommodations and other support services:

Course Requirements and Evaluation:

1. Weekly Reading Questions (WRQ) 8x25 (200 points).

Each set of reading questions is designed to focus your reading of difficult texts and concepts. We will use the reading questions as a basis for discussing that particular reading set in an online format. Try to answer questions as you read, but also remember that your answers may change as you continue reading. Reading questions will be graded for completion and for your attempt to answer questions (meaning: you don’t always have to have the right answer, but you have to put forth a good faith effort). Reading questions should be submitted via Blackboard, by 11:59 pm (CDT) by Friday. Your response should be 1-2 pages (single-spaced) in a Microsoft Word document; however, please save your document, and then copy and paste your response into the discussion board post format on Blackboard so that it is easier to read. Comments to your classmates should be posted to Blackboard by Sunday. Be sure to check your blackboard for exact due dates on the week of the submission

Purpose: The purpose of the reading questions is to help you develop an understanding of the texts, so that you can build foundational knowledge and redefine the way we think about leadership and its scope.

Questions #4 and #5 are designed to help you think about real world applications.

2. Weekly Analysis/Discussion Board 8x25 (200 points).

Your participation and group discussion grades will be based on completion of discussion board activities that might include (but is not limited to) small group discussions, case studies, and one to two paragraph short essays. Your participation grade will be based on the quantity and quality of your discussion board posts. Each week you should:

   a. Initial posts are due by Thursday @ 11:59pm of each week.

   b. Respond to at minimum two of your colleagues discussion boards by Sunday @ 11:59pm of each week.

These due dates are the same every week to help create a routine of reading, reflecting, writing, and discussion. Be sure to check your blackboard for exact due dates on the week of the submission
Purpose: The purpose of these activities is to engage each student in more active and significant learning rather than passive learning.

Grading Rubric for Analysis/Participation and Discussion Board Activities:

Excellent – active participation, completion of all activities; student contributes to the discussion without trying to dominate it, makes thoughtful contributions, and shows interest in and respects others’ views.

Good – some participation, completion of most activities; student makes some thoughtful comments, contributes occasionally without prompting, and shows interest in and respects others’ views.

Satisfactory – some participation, completion of some activities; student does not voluntarily contribute to the discussion and gives only minimal participation.

Poor – little or no participation, completion of few activities; student often does not participate, does not routinely use Blackboard, is not engaged and/or is unprepared to participate in meaningful ways on the discussion board.

3. Mini Analysis Paper x 2 (100 pts. each) This course requires critical thought about the course readings and class discussions in order to critically understand and develop your own sense of what leadership means, so the papers will focus on your perspectives on leadership, drawing from the course readings and outside supporting materials. The paper assignment handout on Blackboard explains the requirements for the paper in more detail.

Purpose: The purpose of these papers are to demonstrate understanding of leadership concepts, to compare and contrast theories and ideas, and to apply these concepts to contemporary leadership to better understand the function and nature of leadership.

4. Leadership Philosophy Statement (100pts.) You will work on your leadership philosophy statement throughout the semester.

Purpose: The purpose of this assignment is to begin to develop your personal philosophy statement and adapt it based on critical comprehension of leadership theories and concepts gained from the texts, activities and discussion board from this class.

5. Final Exam Essay Questions (100pts.). This course has a final exam with five essay questions. You will choose three of the five essay questions to answer for your final exam. Final exam essay will open one week before due date. Be sure to check your blackboard for exact due dates on the week of the submission.
As a graduate seminar, there will be a heavy emphasis upon intellectual engagement and participation. All assignments are due by 11:59 PM (CDT) on the date specified. There will be a ten-point deduction for each day late.

ONLINE SUCCESS: You must participate to be successful. It is every student’s responsibility to fully participate, so that everyone can get the most from the experience. Some simple rules to follow for full participation and engagement in learning:

Ask questions: If you do not know an answer, someone else will. The HELP board is a forum for asking questions related to content or any problems you are having in the course.

Ensure that you clearly indicate the subject of your message.

Reach out to others: Offer a fact, article link or other item that can help others to learn something in the course.

Be appropriate: The online course is not the place for insults, insensitive comments, attacks, or venting. In appropriate behavior will be subject to disciplinary action as well as grade reduction.

Be diplomatic: Tolerance and respect for the opinions of others should always be upheld, even when strong differences of opinion exist. When sending messages on emotionally-charged issues, make sure to pause after writing the message and reread the message before sending it. Always be constructive, never destructive.

Remember, there is a person at the other end.

Stay Focused: stay on topic to increase your learning. Identify yourself and clearly summarize the contents of your message in the subject line of your email and your discussion board postings.

Avoid sarcasm in your postings and emails. Sarcasm does not translate well online.
Avoid using all capital letters. USING ALL CAPS MAKES IT SEEM LIKE YOU ARE SHOUTING AND IT’S DIFFICULT TO READ.

GUIDELINES FOR WRITING Please use a standard term paper format including 1" margins, double-spacing, page numbering, standard 12 point, Times New Roman font (this font) and proper citation procedures (APA), at http://www.apastyle.org/. More information will be available about the paper assignments in a separate document.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

Academic misconduct includes cheating, plagiarizing, collusion, and deliberately interfering with the work of others.

Plagiarizing means representing the work of someone else (such as another student or an author of a book, article, or internet site) as your own. If you use the ideas or words of someone else, you must cite the source of the original information in your paper or presentation. For this class, using your own papers completed for another class also would be considered plagiarism.

Cheating includes, but is not limited to, copying answers from other students’ papers or tests, discussing test questions with students who have not taken the test, and/or using notes when taking a test. Another example of cheating is to use a source from a text book without obtaining the original author’s work. If you do not read a work in its entirety, you may misrepresent the original author’s work. Another example is to copy answers from another student or to allow another student to copy from your work. Collusion refers to collaboration with another student to commit any academically dishonest act. If you provide answers to someone or knowingly allow someone to copy your work, you will be held responsible.

Invented or plagiarized work can result in an F grade for the course and may result in possible disciplinary action at the university level. Students may be suspended or expelled for engaging in academic dishonesty.

LATE ASSIGNMENTS AND INCOMPLETE POLICY

Late written assignments will receive a ten point deduction for each twenty-four hour period (including weekends) the assignment is late. If you are unable to submit your assignment on the day that an assignment is due, you must contact me before the due date to arrange to turn in your assignment. Generally, I find it unacceptable for students to turn in late assignments, unless there are extreme and extenuating circumstances.

Late final papers will not be accepted. If your final paper is late, you will receive a zero for the assignment. A grade of incomplete will not be given for any reason, unless there are EXTREME extenuating circumstances AND you have talked to me in advance. An incomplete will only be given if some extenuating circumstance prevents you from completing the final paper by the deadline.
