CLASSICAL VOICE

UTEP boasts a world-class voice faculty and offers students a variety of courses that promote a strong technical and pedagogical foundation. Students have access to a number of performing opportunities including several choirs, Opera Workshop, Commercial Music Ensemble, Mariachi los Mineros, Early Music Ensemble, weekly area recitals, studio classes, and guest artist master classes.

COMMERCIAL VOICE

The commercial singer at UTEP is taught a strong foundation in classical voice in addition to learning to sing a variety of commercial styles. As their study progresses, their repertoire is further geared toward the individual's commercial strengths. Additionally, all commercial music majors take courses in music technology, music business, arranging, improvisation, and recording. UTEP's state-of-the-art recording studio gives students hands-on engineering and recording experience.

CHOIR

UTEP's choirs include Cantare (SSA chorus), Singing Miners (TB chorus), the Concert Chorale, and Chamber Singers. Since 2015, the UTEP Chamber Singers have traveled every other year to Leeds, England, for a week-long residency in the Leeds Cathedral. In 2020 and 2023, the Concert Chorale was invited to perform at the Texas Music Educators Association annual conference in San Antonio. The UTEP Choirs also enjoy regular collaboration with the El Paso Symphony Orchestra and other regional orchestras. All students are welcome to participate in Cantare and the Singing Miners, while the Chorale and Chamber Singers are selected by audition.

OPERA

Students in the Opera Workshop class ("Opera UTEP") present shows in the fall and spring. Scenes from lyric theater (including opera, operetta, zarzuela and musical theater) as well as one-act and full-length operas are produced, according to the needs and abilities of the students enrolled in the class. Opera UTEP enjoys a close partnership with El Paso Opera, offering students opportunities to perform in mainstage shows and/or as "Junior Artists" or "Resident Artists."

SOLO OPPORTUNITIES

The importance of successful solo performance is a high priority for the Voice Area at the UTEP Department of Music. In addition to repertoire and technique growth, students work with faculty in the topics of musical expression, stage presence, and performance anxiety to provide a challenging yet positive arena for performance. Weekly studio master classes are held to provide supportive commentary and tips for achievement in music performance. The Voice Area also provides weekly recital opportunities, as well as outreach performances in the community. Many students also choose to compete as soloists at National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS) conferences.
