Skyfactor/Benchworks™

The School of Nursing utilizes Skyfactor/Benchworks™ electronic surveys as one method to evaluate program effectiveness. Exit surveys are administered to all graduating students during their last semester in the Traditional BSN, RN to BSN, Masters, and DNP programs. Alumni and Employer surveys are also administered for the BSN, MSN, and DNP programs every three years.

Skyfactor/Benchworks™ analyzes the data, and a mean rank value is determined per item on each of the surveys and per factor in the survey questionnaires where $I = \text{lowest rank/least}$ satisfied value to 7 = highest rank/most satisfied value. Outcomes are evaluated for meeting the mean rank value of 5.5 (75%) as the indicator or goal of achievement as designated by Skyfactor/ Benchworks™. The Skyfactor/Benchworks™ assessments also provide three levels of benchmarking: a comparison to six-selected school peers, to schools in the SoN Carnegie classification, and to all student survey participants from schools of nursing throughout the United States. This analytical process facilitates the ability to calibrate current performance, set goals and identify successes in each educational program. Specifically, the results provide faculty with feedback about a variety of curriculum, instructional, and other program outcomes on baccalaureate, master's, and DNP programs.

Faculty Assignments

Teaching assignments are made based on the needs of SoN programs each semester, including the summer semester. Teaching assignments will be made in collaboration with the Directors and Associate Deans. When planning Faculty teaching assignments, members' requests, area of expertise and previous teaching experience must be considered. All faculty members are expected to fulfill their respective assignments and be actively engaged in the courses to which they are assigned.

Faculty and Student Grievance Process

A formal policy for faculty grievances exists in the School of Nursing Policy and Procedure manual located in the Faculty Organization Blackboard course.

Faculty Job Descriptions

Please contact the appropriate Associate Dean for a copy of your specific job description.

Faculty Organization

The School of Nursing Faculty Organization (SoNFO) is the faculty governance body of the school. All faculty members, including full time, part time, and emeriti, are members. However, only full-time faculty are voting members and can serve as elected officers. The organization meets at the beginning, middle, and end of each semester, to include summers. Full – time faculty are expected to attend meetings unless they have a conflicting class. The meetings generally fall on the second Monday afternoon of the month. Annually, a chair, chair-elect, and secretary are nominated and elected from the full-time faculty. Committee vacancies are also filled annually. All SoN standing committees report their activities to the SoNFO.

To facilitate communications and serve as a repository for SoNFO and SoN committee documents and reports, a Blackboard course is used. The SoNFO bylaws, committee structures, report formats and other important documents are in this course. The course is available to all faculty. The SoNFO President is responsible for updating the member list every semester. Full – time faculty are enrolled in the course in the instructor role, allowing them access to upload documents and reports. Part time and emeriti faculty are enrolled in the student role, giving them access to view all entries.

Faculty Orientation

Generally, a one-day orientation is held for all newly appointed graduate and undergraduate faculty members. The orientation provides a dissemination of vital curriculum, resources, and SoN operational information. The orientation process is a collaborative effort among the leadership team, the Associate Deans and Directors and other department personnel. The orientation agenda provides an overview of the undergraduate curriculum, the graduate curriculum, the SoN policies/bylaws, faculty resources/clerical support services, faculty development opportunities, roles and functions of a faculty member, compliance expectations and relevant forms vital to the role as faculty member are addressed.

All newly appointed full-time faculty are also required to attend the University wide campus orientation, which is arranged by the Human Resource Department.

Faculty Promotion

Clinical Track:

Promotion through clinical faculty ranks is not guaranteed and clinical faculty are advised that promotion is not merely a reflection of time in service. Clinical faculty seeking promotion should carefully review the criteria listed in the Clinical Faculty Promotion Pathway document (located in the SoNFO Blackboard course) to determine their readiness for promotion to the next rank. If promotion is a goal, faculty should begin preparing as soon as their hiring or newest rank is awarded. It is important to maintain meticulous records of one's accomplishments and professional performance at the current rank to be able to fully document the qualifications necessary for promotion.

Clinical faculty seeking promotion to the next rank are advised to prepare a portfolio which describes and documents attainment of the listed, and/or other comparable, relevant criteria for the rank being sought. Documentation should be specific, dated, and detailed such that attainment of the criteria is clear to the evaluating faculty and administrators. Portfolios should include the following sections:

1. An introductory letter requesting the promotion sought.
2. An executive summary of the contents of the portfolio.
3. The clinical faculty member's Teaching Philosophy.
4. A section documenting the clinical faculty member's teaching activities.
5. A section documenting the clinical faculty member's scholarly activities.
6. A section documenting the clinical faculty member's service activities.
7. The clinical faculty member's current CV.

Tenure Track:

The procedure for Tenure/Tenure Track faculty promotions is defined in the Handbook of Operating Procedures, Section 4.4.1. The information is located at:

<https://www.utep.edu/vpba/hoop/section-3/academic-policies-and-faculty-personnel-matter.html>

All full-time faculty in the school of nursing are expected to function in, and be evaluated on, three professional domains:

Teaching: Unless otherwise specified by the Dean or appropriate Associate Dean, all faculty are expected to teach in accordance with their clinical expertise, professional certifications, and highest education degree. Teaching assignments are dependent on faculty classification (tenure/tenure track vs. clinical track) and the needs of the School of Nursing.
