Impact of Not Providing Parent Information

Special Circumstances Qualifications

You must contact the financial aid administrator at the college you plan to attend if you believe you have a special circumstance that should be considered in determining your eligibility for Federal student aid. However, all situations are considered a special circumstance. For example, the following situations would not be considered a special circumstance but in another time:

- You do not live with your parents.
- Your parents do not provide you with financial support.
- Your parents refuse to consider you for college expenses.
- Your parents do not claim you as a dependent on their federal tax return.
- Your parents do not provide you with free information on your FAFSA® form.

Unsubsidized Loan Option:

If you do not meet the requirements for a special circumstance and still choose to continue your application without providing parent information, you will only be considered for an unsubsidized loan. To request consideration for an unsubsidized loan, you must contact the financial aid administrator at the college you plan to attend.

Choose the appropriate option below based on your circumstances:

- I will provide information about my parents.
- I have a special circumstance and I am submitting my FAFSA® form without parent information. I will apply for an unsubsidized loan only.

Homeless or At Risk of Being Homeless

Important: If indicated you are homeless or at risk of being homeless, and you answered "None of the above" when presented with the specific homelessness questions, read on for more information.

Homeless or At Risk of Being Homeless

Your financial aid administrator can decide that you meet both of the following conditions necessary to be considered homeless and, therefore, do not need to provide parental information:

- You are homeless, or self-supporting, and at risk of being homeless. Homeless means you are living in sheltered, unsheltered, or unstable housing, including living in shelters, parks, hotel, public spaces, or car (including car campgrounds, camping in abandoned buildings, or regularly bring with other people because you had nowhere else to go). Also, if you are living in any of these situations and spending an average of 30 or more nights per year in these situations, you may be considered homeless even if your parent would otherwise provide a place to live.

- You are homeless, or self-supporting, and at risk of being homeless. This means you are not living in the physical custody of your parent(s) or guardian(s).

If you believe that you meet these conditions and would like to follow up with the financial aid administrator at the college you plan to attend, select Continue.
